Columbus, June 28.—Adoption of a state platform and selection of Ohio's Republican candidates for membership in the electoral college which, next January, will officially select the next president and vice-president of the United States, will feature the two-day Republican State convention scheduled to open in Memorial hall here at 3 p. m. today.

Turner, other candidates, and by Senator Fess. Standing committees, also, will be announced at the initial session.

Luncheon For Women
Republican candidates for U. S. senator and for governor spoke at a luncheon held this afternoon in the Neil House ball room, under the auspices of the Ohio council of Republican women, complimenting women delegates to the state convention.

In advance of the opening of the convention, delegates from each of the 22 Ohio congressional districts met in separate district caucuses for the purpose of selecting members of the standing committees on resolutions, credentials, permanent organization, rules and order of business, and nominating candidates for presidential electors.

The resolutions committee is to meet at 8 o'clock tonight, in parlor J. Deshler-Wallack hotel, to draft a proposed state platform.

The Republican State Central committee is expected to hold an informal session tonight at the Deshler-Wallack hotel.

At the closing session of the convention tomorrow morning, Rev. Mr. Hathecox is to give the invocation and the Buckeye Women's Republican Glee club, Columbus, will sing.

After taking action on committee reports, including adoption of a platform, selecting electoral college candidates, and determining upon a permanent organization, the convention will adjourn.

COOPER CLAIMS FARMERS MUST SOLVE PROBLEM

Ballyhoing No Aid Says Candidate; Begg Hits Government Cost

Columbus, June 28.—"The farmers' problem has not been solved, and never will be solved except by those who make their living on the farm, or who are directly interested in his problem," declared Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, one of the Republican gubernatorial candidates, here today. Cooper was to address the Republican state convention this afternoon.

"Political ballyhoing, in congress or out of it, does not help the farmer," continued Cooper. "He simply asks for the placing of his industry on an equality with that of other industries in order that he may receive for time expended and capital invested a like return. The problem is difficult and demands something more than superficial thinking or emergency legislation."

Touching on the subject of public welfare, Cooper said: "We should enlarge our physical equipment and should provide necessary medical attention and comforts for those to whom society owes a duty which cannot longer be shirked."

Urging an economical and efficient administration of state government, Cooper declared: "It is essential that a Republican governor be selected to work with a Republican legislature that will not be handicapped in extending the benefits of our road construction and road betterments."

He said that "the high cost of government has contributed as much to the burdens of the farmer as that of any other responsibility which he has to carry."

Pledges Lower Cost
Columbus, June 28.—"One form of farm relief that I imagine will be welcome to all the farmers of Ohio is the lowering of the cost of government," declared Cooper.

TURNER WRITES DRY PLANKS FOR STATE PLATFORM

Advocates Vigorous But Sane Enforcement Of U. S., Ohio Laws

WOULD ABOLISH JUSTICE COURTS

Wants County Managers; Full Platform Given For Consideration

Columbus, June 28.—"Vigorous, but sane" enforcement of all laws and abolition of Ohio's present system of justices and mayors' courts are advocated in a proposed state platform submitted today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner to delegates attending the Republican state convention here today.

Turner, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was one of the leading opponents of the marshal justice of the peace bill which was defeated at the statewide election last November.

Asserting that, in view of existing federal laws, "the wet-dry question cannot become a state issue," Turner's proposed platform includes the recommendation that, "so long as it remains in the constitution and so long as congress maintains a law in pursuance thereof," the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution, decreeing prohibition, be enforced vigorously, but sanely.

Would Oust Lobbyists
There are 27 planks in Turner's proposed platform, including recommendations that paid lobbyists be outlawed; that campaign expenditures be limited; that provision be made for permanent registration of voters; that legislation be enacted providing for the graduated taxation of moneys, credits and intangibles; that the state constitution be amended so as to permit abolition of township offices and provide for the replacement of existing county offices by a commission-manager form of government; and immediate repeal of the Pence law which deals with the regulation of public utilities by the state government.

"On three former occasions, I have been called upon to take an active part in drafting a state platform," said Turner. "Each time, I found that no one had given the matter any previous consideration and there was more or less confusion about the situation."

Generally Much Confusion
"It was especially true that the delegates generally were in the dark on the question of platform. Therefore, I have taken the liberty of putting into form my ideas of what a platform should contain," continued Turner.

"It is to be distinctly understood, however, that no attempt is made to usurp the prerogatives of the committee on resolutions, but, as the attorney general of the state and representative of the Republican party in this office, I feel that I ought to try to be helpful to the convention in giving the convention my ideas in concrete form," Turner declared.

The opinion prevailed among delegates that Turner's platform proposals will serve as the basis for activities by the convention's committee on resolutions when it convenes tonight for the purpose of drafting a platform to be submitted for ratification at tomorrow's session.

Seventy-five injured persons were in hospitals today, some are seriously hurt that it is feared they may die.

Rescue workers chopped furiously at the wreckage all through the early hours of the morning searching for the victims, but they were hampered by the darkness.

It is feared there may be many more dead and injured in the wreckage.

The majority of the victims were women. The front coaches of the excursion train were telescoped when they met the freight train, head-on.

MORE ORATORY FOR DELEGATES PROGRAM TODAY

Peace and Harmony Loom Large Over Hall With Platform Ahead

NAME SMITH AND ROBINSON FRIDAY

More nominating speeches This Afternoon Seem Quite Futile

Sam Houston Hall, Houston, Texas, June 28.—Peace and harmony, long strangers at Democratic conventions, loomed large over Sam Houston Hall today as the weary delegates trooped back in the hot Texas sunshine for several hours more of oratory before adopting the platform and selecting a ticket agreed upon in advance.

As the session got under way it appeared certain that the platform could be disposed of by tonight, which will leave tomorrow for the ratification of Gov. Al Smith's nomination and the selection of Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas as his running mate.

The accomplishment of this program would make this the shortest Democratic National convention since 1916, when the Democrats, then in power at Washington, met at St. Louis and merely endorsed Woodrow Wilson for another term.

Intense Heat Relieved
The intense heat was relieved somewhat today by a strong gulf breeze. For the first time since the convention opened the flags that decorate it profusely were waving about.

Again, however, the delegates took their time about arriving. The prospect of listening to several hours' more of nominating speeches—when everybody knows that it is futile, apparently did not appeal much to either the delegates or the visitors, for five minutes before the hour of convening there were few in the hall.

Four names, Gov. Al Smith of New York, Evans Woolen of Indiana; Senator Walter P. George of Georgia and Congressman William A. Ayres of Kansas—were before the convention when it resumed its labors.

The session was to see more—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri; Cordell Hull of Tennessee; ex-Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska; Jesse Jones of Texas, who brought this convention to his home city, and possibly that of ex-Senator Allee Pomerene of Ohio.

Ohio For Smith
However the Ohioans have decided to make Gov. Smith's nomination certain on the first ballot by giving him the bulk of their votes if he needs them.

Maryland sent to the platform her three-time governor, Albert C. Ritchie.

Gov. Ritchie seconded the nomination of Gov. Smith in whose favor he withdrew his own candidacy some days ago.

"It is a privilege to second the nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York," said the governor.

"I am here to speak of the creed of a man. It would not have mattered what environment surrounded Alfred E. Smith, for he would have been a great man under any condition."

"Gov. Smith is living proof that Democracy can present leaders that are simple and yet great."

FARM RELIEF ENDORSED BY COMMITTEE

Sub-Committee Takes Middle Course After Hearing Both Wets and Drys Last Night; Do Not Expect Any Minority Reports

Houston, Texas, June 28.—A strict law enforcement plank, pledging the Democratic party to enforce rigidly the 18th amendment as well as all other provisions of the constitution, was written into the platform today by the resolutions subcommittee following an all-night session.

The prohibition plank represented a compromise between the extreme wets and drys and followed a middle course as outlined by those leaders who are seeking to prevent a disruption of the convention on the dry issue.

So satisfactory was the prohibition agreement, said Senator Pittman of Nevada, chairman, that a minority report, either by the wets or the drys, is not anticipated.

On the other big controversial issue of this convention—farm relief, the platform drafters endorsed the requests of farm leaders for approval of the equalization fee principle by inference without mentioning the McNary-Haugen bill.

Grant Farmers' Requests
"We have given the farmers substantially what they asked for," said Senator Walsh of Massachusetts. The agriculture plank denounces the Republican party for its failure to enact remedial legislation.

In sharp contrast to the bitter fights which have rocked the Democrats in the past, the long meeting of the drafting committee of 14 members was peaceful and harmonious.

The prohibition plank was the last approved by the committee. At the outset three different prohibition proposals were submitted:

First—Repeal of the 18th amendment and modification of the Volstead laws by the wets.

Second—A loose dry plank by Gov. Moody of Texas.

Third—A law enforcement plank by the harmony seekers.

This last program had been agreed upon by the Smith forces in an effort to reach compromise.

Gov. Moody held until the end for the bone dry plank and even as the committee recessed in the early morning he had not fallen into line on the plank adopted, it was declared.

Others Swing Over
Slowly however, the other militant drys on the committee, such as Senators Glass of Virginia and Caraway of Arkansas swung over to the law enforcement idea, and thus a slam-bang fight was avoided.

The wets made only a gesture for the dripping plank.

The preamble to the prohibition plank, on which there was no disagreement, sharply criticizes the Republicans for not properly enforcing the 18th amendment and blames them for the breakdown of honest government.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, a wet, said the enforcement plank "was the best obtainable under the circumstances in view of the wide diversion of opinion among the members of the committee."

A corruption plank, described as a "burning attack" on the Republican party for the oil, election and other scandals of the past eight years, was one of the features of the platform.

A plank, proposed by Walsh, attacked big monopolies and trusts.

All planks were approved of labor organizations were called to meet with the committee to present their views, after which the labor plank will be drafted.

The platform must be approved by a entire committee before it is submitted to the convention.

Recess at Midnight
When the convention recessed near midnight the roll call for candidates had only proceeded as far as Louisiana. The states below "L" have half a dozen candidates to present, among them Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri and Congressman Cordell Hull of Tennessee, the nearest rivals to the New York governor. There was nobody in Houston today who believed that either, or that any of the others, had a ghost of a show for the nomination, but the Democrats are gluttons for glory and hence the formalities will be observed.

Ohio and Kansas probably will go for Smith on the first ballot. Both were ready this morning to switch their votes at the conclusion of the first roll call if the Smith managers need them. Ohio has 48 votes, of which 42 or 44 have always been for Smith after the first ballot. Kansas has 20 votes that have been similarly committed. These, with the approximately 700 assured Smith votes on the first ballot, are more than sufficient.

Don't Listen To Daniels
This is Smith's convention. The fact was strikingly demonstrated last night by innumerable incidents. Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration, (Continued on Page 4)

Would Spare Pole On Which Robins Have Their Home

"Workers spare that pole." This was the plea issuing from the office of the city engineer today after the announcement that all concrete poles of the old lighting system will come down within the next few days.

A mother robin and her four little robins in a nest on the pole is the cause of the agitation to save it.

The engineering staff has been watching with interest the work of Mrs. Robin, feeding and taking care of her sons or daughters, as they may be, and now are emphatic that the pole stay up until they are able to fly away from the nest.

Mrs. Robin and children reside on the pole at the corner of Ellsworth ave., and Main st.

Police Chiefs Favor Dry Law Changes

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 28.—An overwhelming sentiment for modification of the Volstead law was the result today of a pool taken among delegates to the annual convention here of the International Chiefs of Police association.

The straw vote showed 117 in favor of a change and 24 opposed to modification.

Nelson Dunkley of Salem was fined $100 and costs and committed to the county jail in default this morning by Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimmerman of Lisbon on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor filed by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter.

In conducting a search for stolen railroad equipment in Salem township yesterday, Kindsvatter, with Pennsylvania railroad detectives, found 37 bottle of beer. Dunkley appeared this morning and entered a plea of guilty.

Kindsvatter and railroad detectives located some of the stolen railroad equipment, but a further investigation is being conducted.

Falls From Raft To Death In Pit Pool

Columbus, June 28.—Because he was unable to swim the distance of 100 feet to the shore from a raft which he was paddling about a pool in a gravel pit near here late yesterday, Jerald Albert Wierman, 15, is dead today.

Companions swimming in the pool attempted to save the boy, but were too tired to save him to safety. The body was recovered after it had been in the water over three hours.

HALT CALLED ON SENATE

Such has been the attention given of late to national conventions, the locating of General Noble and his companions of the Italia, the trans-Atlantic flight of Miss Earhart and her companions, the disappearance of Captain Roald Amundsen and his party and other news matters of more than passing moment, that it would have been something closely akin to a miracle had not many newspaper readers overlooked the recent decision of the United States supreme court holding that the Reed senate investigating committee did not have authority to sue officials of the state of Pennsylvania to compel them to turn over to it certain ballots demanded by the committee.

The senate committee based its right to take such action on the authority given it to perform "such other acts as may be necessary," a clause which is admittedly susceptible of wide application. The supreme court, however, held that such acts were not unlimited in their nature and scope; that they were limited to the acts which the senate had constitutional authority to perform and that the clause could not be held to confer authority for all the senate committee might wish it to do. In a word, the court held that the powers conferred upon the committee could not transcend the powers given the senate by the constitution, and that in no event had it the authority to employ the judicial processes of the United States.

It is a matter of general recognition that the senate in recent years has made repeated attempts to encroach upon the rights and powers of the executive and judicial branches of the government. It was not so long ago that it sought to hamstring the supreme court and more recently it went out of its way to suggest how the supreme court should conduct its proceedings. It will be recalled, also, that it has set up its right to determine the fitness of a citizen elected to its membership, before such a citizen has become a member and that it has exercised that assumed right despite the warnings of the best legal minds among its membership that it was acting beyond its constitutional powers.

In the light of all the offenses it has committed along these lines, the decision of the supreme court is opportune. It is well that the senate be made to realize that its powers are not unlimited; that, at the utmost, it and the lower house of congress, constitute but one branch of the government and not all of it; that there are two coordinate branches which have certain rights and powers which the legislative branch of the government must respect. And if the legislative branch of the government is in as close touch with the feeling of the country as it should be, it should soon begin to realize that it does not hold the high place in public esteem that it once did, and that the public feeling is such that, were there a general revision of the constitution today, the chances are that its powers would be circumscribed rather than enlarged.

Beyond all question, good has been accomplished by some of the senate investigations. It may be said that the good has more than overbalanced the harm done—for harm has been done—but such good as has been accomplished has been done when the senate has acted within its powers and not beyond them. It has been when the senate has exceeded its powers that harm has resulted.

What Others Say

THE REMUS FARCE

The Ohio supreme court's reasons for freeing George H. Remus, the wife slayer, may be good law. But they are not good common sense, and the Ohio legislature, as well as legislatures elsewhere, should now take steps to prevent a repetition of the Remus farce the next time some murderer tries to dodge the death penalty by means of feigned insanity. If the law is out of line with common sense, it can be brought into line with common sense by proper statutory enactment.

After killing his wife, Remus convinced a jury that he had been insane at the time of the crime, and immediately after his acquittal he convinced a set of alienists that he was sane again.

One lower court—that of Probate Judge William H. Lueders, of Cincinnati—ordered Remus to the asylum despite the opinions of the experts, on the broad ground that a man who had once killed while insane was a dangerous person to be at large.

An intermediate court, the Ohio court of appeals, overruled Judge Lueders. The state supreme court, by the narrow division of four to three, now upholds the court of appeals.

That ends the matter, so far as Remus is concerned. He is a free man, free of the charge of murder, and free of the charge of insanity. So he can go his way and do as he pleases, just the same as though he never had killed his wife and never had claimed to be crazy. And unless he at some future time manifests marked symptoms of genuine insanity, there is nothing that society can do about it.

But there is much that society can do to provide at least partially adequate punishment for future George Remuses. Society can protect itself with laws automatically committing to an asylum for life every murderer who escapes the noose, the chair or a life term in prison by successfully pleading insanity. If the Remus farce arouses the public to a realization of the need of such legislation, then the Remus farce will not have been acted in vain.—Minneapolis Journal.

THE NATURE LEAGUE

June is a good month for Nature league discussion—the out-of-doors is so inviting, and holds so much for nature lovers to enjoy.

Dr. Wile, a member of the New York league's advisory board, is an eminent psychiatrist. He insists that the beauty of nature is a great aid to mental health and happiness. Man and nature are vitally interested, says this scientist. It is true. Nature has had wondrous effects upon the development of man's nature through its varied aspects—its quiet, its color and odor, its symphonies, its harmony of form. Its beauty and inspirations have reached the souls not only of poets and artists, but in the practical field where man seeks comfort and happiness, where he can hear the voice and touch the hand of the Great All-Mother.

The dwellers in cities necessarily miss much of nature's revelations, but through the School Nature league and kindred organizations they are discovering and enjoying greater opportunities in this respect with each passing year. The league involves in its mission sustained effort to stay the ruthless destruction of flowers and plants in fields and woods, a destruction indelible with a heartless enthusiasm having no better inspiration than mere desire for swiftly ephemeral decoration or a rage for insane collection without scientific excuse.

It is a province of the School Nature league to cultivate in the minds of children particularly a large respect for natural resources and a deeper appreciation of the beauty and utility of plants and animals. It seeks to lead children understandingly through all the courts of the temple which God has erected here, and upon the altars of which their offerings of appreciation, love and reverence for all things useful and beautiful are good in His sight. He calls from the meadows, the fields, the streams, the woods and the hills, and His voice is the voice of beauty, always.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, June 29.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

THE long train of lunar transits, accented by the equally unpropitious mutual aspects, point to this day as holding many tests, trials and disagreeable situations to be met and vanquished. Some of these may be prevented with startling abruptness and be of a whirlwind nature; other menaces may be hidden and subtle and not come to the surface. But in all situations be calm and poised and try to adjust matters by oneness. Precaution and resolution may win the day. Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which their mettle may be tested by many unforeseen events and disturbances as well as by subtlety and duplicity. By being wary, prepared and poised to meet all difficulties and menaces the situation may be turned to good account. Sign all writings carefully. A child born on this day may be temperamental and difficult to understand or rule.

Even events which look like misfortune, if boldly faced may be turned to good.—Lubbock.

Phone 386 Free DeliveryTHESE BIRTH MARKS
NOT MOTHERS' FAULTBy Royal S. Copeand, M. D.
United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

Mothers have many necessary things to worry about yet they worry about many unnecessary things as well. While it is foolish to do this, it is perfectly natural.

Every expectant mother hears stories about this or that deformity being caused by acts of the mother. It is almost certain that every birthmark will be traced to something the mother ate, or some other equally impossible cause.

As a matter of fact the normal expectant mother is not to blame for the physical defects of the new-born baby. Many a young woman has made herself miserable for months because she was afraid of "marking" her baby.

Today I am interested in birthmarks. I want to say a few things about them.

Most such marks are known to the doctors as a form of "nevus" or "angioma." These are caused by a thickening of the blood vessels, or by an increase in the number of blood vessels in one spot.

One of the most common inquiries sent to me is about birthmarks. Some mother has been watching a tiny red spot somewhere on the skin of her child grow larger, or she is distressed because since birth a large area of skin has been affected this way.

It is very unusual for a birthmark to remain the same size all through life. For example, a spot the size of a pinhead may spread to be the size of your hand.

In every case excitement makes the discolored spot more conspicuous. With the increase in blood supplied the region, the spot becomes more pronounced.

What can be done? Where the birthmark is small, excellent results have been accomplished by use of the electric needle. This treatment almost invariably effects a permanent cure.

With the great progress made in using X-ray and radium, wonderful results have been accomplished. In every case, however, the application must be done only by an expert.

More drastic measures have been employed where the marks are on the face or neck. Plastic surgery has been successfully employed in some of these cases. Then there is an actual removal of more or less skin tissue including the defect.

Let me give each of you mothers a word of advice: If you find that your baby has some sort of blemish or mark on its body, go to the doctor at once. Many things can be done while the child is young to correct such a condition. In this way you may save years of suffering and humiliation for your dearly beloved child.

I beg of you to put it out of your mind that some act or experience of yours has been responsible for the marking of your baby. There isn't a word of truth in such a theory. Science long ago destroyed this teaching.

There is a reasonable explanation for every such mark, but believe me, dear mother, it isn't your fault or any misconduct of mind or body that has accomplished this.

The "FLAVOR ZONE" oven
browns and cooks automatically

The oven, and oven control, of the Westinghouse Electric Range have been specially designed to give "FLAVOR ZONE" cooking automatically.

That is—it automatically browns the roast first, and for just the right length of time to seal in the rich juices and flavor, and then it draws this goodness into the meat by cooking at an automatically lowered temperature. It does all of this without work or worry on your part.

For 6 o'clock dinner, you can place a cold roast in the cold oven, any time in the morning, make two simple adjustments as predetermined for you by Westinghouse cooking experts, and then forget your cooking until dinner time.

No other range, either fuel or electric, performs both the browning and the cooking operations automatically—no other range can give you such complete freedom from the kitchen.

Come in for demonstration, or if more convenient, phone or write for "The Story of Flavor Zone Cooking."

GOV. SMITH HAS VICTORY HABIT. SAYS ROOSEVELT

Calls Al Happy Warrior In Short Speech When He Nominates Him

Houston, Tex., June 28.—"Victory is his habit—the happy warrior!" With this prophetic characterization, the name of Gov. Alfred E. Smith was presented to the Democratic national convention last night by one of his closest personal friends and political allies, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was the third time Roosevelt had placed Smith's name before the quadrennial assembly.

"The faith which I held, I still hold," he said, in recalling his eight years' fight to win the presidential nomination for the man who was the boy of the sidewalks of New York.

"The speech was short, uttered in crisp ringing sentences remarkably free of bombast and high oratory."

"Between him and the people is that subtle bond which makes him their champion and makes them enthusiastically trust him with their loyalty and their love."

With that unadorned keynote, Roosevelt presented Smith as a new Lincoln and a new Wilson.

"It was Lincoln's human heart, and Woodrow Wilson's passionate desire to bring about the happiness of the whole world which will be best remembered by the historians."

Roosevelt followed the lead of the temporary chairman, Claude Bowers, in assailing "the crass materialism" of Republican prosperity, political corruption, and spiritual lethargy in administrative leadership.

There was no reference to prohibition, either in the exhaustive review of Smith's record or in the summary of the personal attributes which his friends deem mark him for high service to the party and nation. "He is well called the pathfinder to the open road for all true lovers of humanity." He has the honesty that hates hypocrisy and cannot live with concealment and deceit.

REED TOTAKE

date endorsement from the Smith leaders.

Will Plead For Harmony
Reed was reported to have agreed to appear before the convention to make a second "keynote" speech. It was Reed's idea, according to his closest friends, to plead with the convention for harmony. He planned, it was said, a specific plea for reconciliation for all of the third party movements no matter who is declared the Democratic nomination.

The Missourian, who initiated the senate's famous slush fund investigations that drove two men out of the senate, has expressed a desire, according to his friends, to sound a new tocsin to the Democratic party to concentrate on the campaign issue of Republican corruption.

Reed's decision to support Smith or any Democratic nominee to the best of his ability—which means an unbroken speaking tour of the country from the day the campaign opens until the ballots are counted—was due chiefly to his opposition to Herbert Hoover. As now planned, Reed will launch a new attack on Hoover and it has been intimated, will make such charges against the Republican nominee as to throw a brand new issue into the campaign.

Reed will declare that prohibition is not an issue in the approaching campaign and will call upon the Democratic party to pledge itself of "rigid enforcement" of all existing laws, including the Volstead act.

COOPER

Ohio will be a reduction in the cost of government," declared Congressman James T. Begg here today as one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. Begg was scheduled to make an address at the opening session of the Republican state convention here late today.

"There has been a great cry in this country for agricultural relief," Begg said. "Many schemes have been put forth but, unfortunately for agriculture, not one has commanded a sufficient following to be enacted into law. Of one thing I am certain. No farm in Ohio is rich enough in fertility to pay $4 an acre toward the cost of the state government and still stay out of bankruptcy."

MELLON VOICES CRY OF VICTORY

Secretary Sees Party Win Over Smith At Polls In November

Washington, June 28.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon does not believe the American people are ready for a change in administration and has complete confidence in a sweep-victory for Herbert Hoover and Senator Curtis in the fall election.

This Mellon indicated to friends today as Hoover was preparing to resign his post in the commerce department and as the Democratic party, with unprecedented harmony, was moving towards the close of its convention and the nomination of Gov. Smith of New York as the standard-bearer.

With Hubert Work, also to resign, the president will have two cabinet posts to fill. The appointees probably will be suggested by the new Republican regime.

So confident is Mellon as to the outcome of the campaign that he has made reservations to sail for Europe about the middle of July.

Agree on Short Campaign
In the opinion of the secretary political conditions are very little different today than prior to the election of President Harding in 1920 and President Coolidge in 1924.

Mellon is understood to agree with the plans of Secretary Hoover for a short snappy campaign, with emphasis on economy of expenditures and avoidance of "mud-throwing" tactics.

This is the first time Mellon has been so specific as to his political predictions and the remarks were hailed with extreme satisfaction by the Hoover camp.

Meanwhile Hoover was conferring with J. R. Nutt, of Cleveland, the new Republican treasurer, relative to financial details of the campaign, and winding up his commerce department affairs preparatory to resignation.

MUCH ORATORY

declared he did not believe any group of people could sit down and talk with the New York governor "and not vote for him" afterward.

Howell Nominates Reed
When Massachusetts was reached on the roll call, Andrew J. Peters, former mayor of Boston, came forward and also seconded the nomination of Governor Smith.

Then came Minnesota to add its word of support for the Smith movement. Andrew Nelson of Duluth, spoke Minnesota's second to the nomination of the New York governor.

The farmers of Minnesota spurn with contempt the platform adopted at Kansas City," said Nelson. "They know that they asked for bread and were handed a stone. Here they know they will get nourishing, economic bread."

When Missouri was reached, Charles M. Howell came forward and gave the convention the name of Sen. James A. Reed.

The Missouri delegates came to their feet yelling and shaking cow bells as Howell stepped out in front of the microphones, and it was several minutes before he could proceed. The bands got going and in the midst of this pre-speech demonstration there was produced from somewhere a big picture of the Missourian's "fighting face."

ONLY FOUR

called the delegates attention to the fact that this was the first convention in more than a quarter of a century wherein the bell-like voice and dominant influence of William Jennings Bryan have been missing. They hardly paid any attention to him. The Tammany tiger is in the ascendancy and it is his time to growl.

A short time later, when Franklin D. Roosevelt put the name of Governor Smith formally before the convention, they figuratively tore the roof of Sam Houston's big new hall. Four years ago at Madison Square garden it was a different story.

The name of Sen. Walter F. George, Georgia's favorite son, was the first to go before the convention. The reception it got was mild. The state standards of Georgia, Florida, North Carolina and Alabama joined in the Georgia procession, but the rest stood pat. Even three bands playing "Dixie" with their hearts in it couldn't draw the rest in.

The Georgians insisted that Tennessee came into the demonstration but a bulky Tennessee delegate shouted to those who were trying to seize the state standard: "You are dry."

California led the Smith procession when Roosevelt presented the governor's name. Four years ago California went down the line for McAdoo to the bitter end. Maryland was only a second behind, with Senator Millard F. Tydings toting the Maryland standard and leading the cheering.

Twelve state standards, however, were kept out of the mad Smith parade through the aisles, although delegates from each of the missing states were participants. The Southern States, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Texas and South Carolina, held fast to their standards and the favorite sons states of Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri stayed out for obvious reasons.

Fight Over Standard
At that, the night didn't pass without a fight. There is Smith sentiment in all of the southern delegations to a greater or less degree, and when "Mike" Morrison, a Mississippi alternate, grabbed up the Mississippi standard on the parade there was a scuffle over it. Senator Hubert Stephens, a cripple, who was guardian of the standard, used his cane in the melee before the police finally escorted Morrison from the hall.

Names of four candidates were formally presented to the convention before a halt was called on the wearisome round of oratory—George, Smith, Woolen and Ayres. Several of the succeeding speeches also were shot in at the night session. Succeeding speeches for Smith were made by Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming; Thomas J. Hekey of California; Senator Barkley of Kentucky and Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller of Pennsylvania. More were to follow at today's session which was called for 10:30 a. m.

The leaders planned to get all the nominating and seconding speeches out of the way today and they were hopeful of getting the platform late this afternoon or tonight. If their hopes are fulfilled, it means the end of the convention today.

Klan Operating In Houston, But Much On Quiet, Is Report

Houston, Texas, June 28.—The Klan is operating in Houston, but very much on the quiet.

Dr. Hiram W. Evans, head of the Klan, and H. C. McCall, a lieutenant, led a dozen high officials in the organization here for the Democratic committee.

A suite of rooms is occupied in a downtown hotel, but both Evans and McCall were shielded by aides. They were said to live in private homes.

EXAMINATION OF OHIO UNIVERSITY BOOKS ORDERED

Charges Say Trustee Has Profited In Coal Sale And Property Deal

Columbus, June 28.—Appointment of Charles F. Miller, chief of state departmental examiners, to conduct the examination into the books of the Ohio university at Athens, was announced today by Gov. Donahey. The appointment followed the presentation of evidence purporting to show that a trustee of the institution has profited from the sale of coal and real estate to the university.

The naming of Miller was announced by State Auditor Joseph Tracy. The investigation will cover the years since 1923. Tracy said. The work is to begin following the examination of the books of the Ohio State university now being made. This will probably be the first of the coming week, it was said.

The petition for the investigation listed 19 warrants for separate orders of coal in amounts as great as four car loads. The petition asserts that the Morris-Peterson Coal company, Cleveland, and the Peterson Consolidated Coal company, Athens, sold the coal to the university from 1919 to 1923. The warrants were said to have been signed by E. B. Bryan, president of the university.

The petition also asks the investigation of the purchases of houses and lands by the university and of payment of $30,000 to a former trustee of the university for the trustee's house, which was remodeled into a home for the president. A former treasurer of the university, the petition said had refused to purchase the house on the grounds that the price was exorbitant.

Members of the committee presenting the petition were Dale W. Stamp, president of Carpenters' Union local No. 290, Columbus; George W. Savages, secretary-treasurer of District 6 of United Mine Workers; W. Walter Ludwig, former student pastor of Ohio university; Ed. Michael, miner, The Plains; Dan Wallace, Glouster, director of miners' relief for the Sunday Creek valley; John Day, miner, The Plains.

P. Landry of France beat Sidney Wood 6-1, 6-1, and 6-2.

Hoodoo of Opal Is No Terror to Wives Of Jewelry Dealers

Chicago, June 28.—The hoodoo of the long shunned opal, considered the jinx among jewels because of the ill fortune it is supposed to bring down upon the wearer, has no fears for jewelers' wives!

The jeweler may not sell opals but his wife wears them according to custom in the trade, assembled at the Hotel Sherman recently for the annual meeting of the Illinois Retail Jewellers association.

One occurrence, jeweler's wife even tehraps fate so far as to wear her opal in a setting of 13 smaller gems.

"There is no sale for opals and one of the largest Chicago houses carries none," said Herman G. Stearn, secretary and treasurer of the association.

Al Hears But Can't See Demonstration For Him Last Night

Albany, N. Y., June 28.—Gov. Al Smith last night heard, if he could not see, the demonstration at Houston when his name was placed in nomination for party standard bearer at the Democratic National convention.

"They are crowding around Mrs. Smith's box," came from the big radio set up in the executive mansion, where the governor got his first-hand description.

"Crowding around Mrs. Smith's box," he repeated to his daughter, Emily, now Mrs. John A. Warner, wife of the superintendent of state police.

Suddenly for the first time in the riotous demonstration the sound of a band came through the ether blaring forth the old familiar tune, "The Sidewalks of New York."

With another and broader grin the governor swung into a bouncy waltz step, ending with a slow side kick.

HOLD SUSPECT IN TIM'S DEATH

Chicago, June 28.—Gangland's favorite method of "sprinkling" criminals from the tentacles of the law failed here today when John Hand, identified as a "racketeer" and minor labor worker, was formally booked for the murder of "Big Tim" Murphy, slain from a machine Tuesday.

Lawyers frantically prepared to obtain writs of habeas corpus for Hand. Police quickly booked him for slaying, at the same time extending their dragnets for three other men.

Four men riding in a closed automobile operated the machine and shot guns that ended the colorful career of Murphy, termed the "man with a thousand rackets."

DUCHESS AT 62 MAY SET RECORD FLYING TO INDIA

Plane At Bristol Ready
For Hop to India And Back In 8 Days

London, June 28.—At the age of 62, the Duchess of Bedford is planning to fly to India and back in the short space of eight days.

The flight, according to present plans, will be made in the Pinner monoplane "Princess Xenia," in which Capt. R. H. McIntosh and Maj. Fitzmaurice started last year on an attempt to fly the Atlantic. The flight was abandoned because of bad weather.

Although secrecy is being maintained regarding the forthcoming flight, it is known that "Princess Xenia" is at Bristol, undergoing a thorough overhauling in preparation for the take-off.

Secret Arrangements
The duchess, however, is desirous that the arrangements be kept quiet, and in consequence the date of the projected start has not been made known.

The plane will be piloted by Capt. C. D. Barnard, who for many months back has been giving the duchess lessons in flying.

The Duchess of Bedford has long been an enthusiastic air-woman. Since 1926 she has made many long flights, and she has commuted many times between her home at Woburn Abbey to the city of London.

Last year, the duchess made a 3,500 mile aerial tour of Europe, which included a crossing of the Alps. Earlier in the year she made a trip over France, Spain and Algeria for the purpose of studying birds from the air.

Flew 16,000 Miles
In all, she has flown more than 16,000 miles.

Although the details of the proposed long-distance flight have not been made known, it is understood that the start will be made from Croydon aerodrome. It is proposed to make a stop at Sofia, the capital of Bulgaria, with further halts at Aleppo and Baghura before Karachi, the destination, is finally reached. Each of these stages represents about 1,200 miles.

KEEP MILK FOR CHILDREN COOL
EXPERT ADVISES

Chicago, June 28.—Hospitals throughout the country have become centers of public instruction on the care of the babies' milk during hot weather.

"Hospitals today recognize their responsibilities as health centers and realize that it is even more important to prevent disease than to cure it," states Dr. Martha Manning, home refrigeration expert. "Milk, while the most valuable and universal of foods, is, at the same time, the most perishable. Much of the illness among children in hot weather is due to milk kept at a temperature above 50 degrees, when bacteria multiply with amazing rapidity."

"There are two essentials in the care of milk in the home—that it be kept cold and that it be kept clean. As soon as a bottle of milk is received, the top should be washed and dried carefully. By doing this, clean milk will not become contaminated in its removal from the container, which may have passed through many hands, or become contaminated by other means."

"The bottle of milk, immediately after being cleansed externally, should be placed unopened in the coldest portion of the ice box and kept there until ready for consumption," Dr. Manning continues. "When a portion of the milk remains unused, if it remains in the original container in the ice box, it should be kept tightly covered with a clean cap, or an inverted glass tumbler. Otherwise, it should be removed to a clean, covered sterile vessel."

Persia's more conciliatory attitude is taken as a rebuff to Soviet diplomats and a tribute to the skillful negotiations of Sir Robert Clive, British minister to Teheran since 1926.

Charles M. Howell

PLEDGES REED WILL SUPPORT DEM. NOMINEE

This Howell Makes Sure
In Placing Name of Senator Reed

Houston, Tex., June 28.—James A. Reed is a great American, with an outstanding record of public achievements and he would make a great American president, Charles M. Howell, of Missouri, declared today in placing Reed's name before the Democratic national convention as a candidate for the party's presidential nomination.

Against the advance columns of a United Republican party, Howell said, "a human thunderbolt must be hurled and James A. Reed is that thunderbolt."

"Reed is made to order as a candidate for the presidency against Herbert Hoover," Howell asserted. "With their records, their ideals and their accomplishments put down side by side, and their real abilities and their true worth judged in the open court of public opinion—the greatest court on this earth—what chance would Hoover have against the greatest orator of the English speaking race?"

Howell described Reed's career, his record in congress, his constant battling for Democratic principles, his defense of constitutional privilege and his life-long fight for democracy.

Howell diverted but once from a dramatic summarization of Reed's public life and then only to pledge the Missourian's service to the party this year whether he won or lost the presidential nomination.

"In presenting his name to you, my fellow Democrats," Howell declared, "there is one thing he charged me to say—that no matter who is nominated by this convention, no matter to whom this great honor and distinction shall go, his services on the platform, or in the councils of the party will be devoted without reservation or limit until the end of the campaign, no matter whether the hopes of our party shall turn to ashes in our hands or whether our arms shall be stacked on the plains of victory."

Howell, in placing Reed's name before the convention, achieved a life long ambition. Personal friends for 20 years, Howell supported Reed every time the senator ran for public office. Back in 1926, when Reed became prosecuting attorney in Kansas City to lay the basis of his first public career, Howell was his first assistant. Later they were law partners. Throughout the years they have been inseparable friends, with Reed in the public eye and Howell behind the scenes.

COURT NEWS

Issues Order of Sale

As the defendants were in default for demurrer or answer in the case of Lorain McKenzie against Hazel H. Green and others, an action in partition, the court has issued an order of sale. The question of priority of liens has been deferred until a later date by the court.

Wife Given Divorce

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, a decree of divorce has been granted the plaintiff in the case of Emma E. Stitt against Elden T. Stitt upon the payment of costs.

Alimony Action

In the alimony action recently filed in common pleas court by Florence V. McClure of East Palestine against her husband Ernst H. McClure of East Palestine, the court has ordered the defendant to pay the plaintiff $90 per month alimony and attorney fees.

The couple were married at East Palestine Nov. 27, 1917. The petition of the plaintiff relates that the father of the defendant connived with him to drive the plaintiff from his son and that the father of the defendant sent a truck to their home and took furniture and personal property from their home and sent it to the home of the parents of the plaintiff.

It is also declared in the petition that the elder McClure sent an electrician to their home to disconnect the wires so the plaintiff could not live in the house of her husband.

Under the clause of extreme cruelty, the plaintiff sets up that her husband inverted a notice in a newspaper that he would no longer be responsible for the obligations of his wife.

Report Approved

Trustees of the Emanuel Lutheran church, Salem, have had a report approved by the court upon their application to mortgage the church property. The application was filed Feb. 23 and later authority was given to make a loan, and then report to the court. The mortgage has also been approved by the court.

Judgment Entered

Judgment on the verdict for $119.05 has been entered by Judge W. F. Lones in the case of John J. Hendricks against the Ellsworth Chevrolet Co. The verdict was returned by a jury when the case was tried June 15.

Decree Is Granted

A decree of divorce has been granted Nettie D. English from her husband James S. English on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, and the custody of a minor child has been awarded the plaintiff.

The court in this case has continued a former order requiring English to pay his wife $40 per month alimony for the support of the minor child, the original order having been made April 11.

Case Is Revived

In the case of the Central Acceptance Co. against Clyde A. Supple, filed Aug. 10 last, the death of the defendant has been suggested to the court, and an order has been made to show cause why the case should not be revived.

Plaintiff Given Judgment

Failure of defendants to appear should not be revived as against A. L. White, executor of the estate of the deceased defendant. Unless cause is shown to the contrary within 10 days, the case will be so revived.

Settlement Made

A settlement at the costs of the defendant has been made in the case of Nellie (Deem) Fear against the Modern Woodmen of America. This was an action to recover on an insurance policy of $1,000 and also interest upon the deferred payment.

Attachment Dismissed

The attachment has been dismissed in the case of Charles McFarren against the Salsville Coal Mining Co., and the action pending in common pleas court has been settled at the costs of the defendant.

Bauknecht In Charge

Assistant Prosecuting Atty. John E. Bauknecht will represent the state during the arraignment of prisoners, indicted by the special grand jury Tuesday, before Judge W. F. Lones in common pleas court Friday morning.

Prosecuting Atty. R. M. Brookes is attending the Republican state convention at Columbus.

Sustains Demurrer

The demurrer to the petition has been sustained by the court in the case of Mary Summers as executrix against Max Barth and others, an action in equitable relief that has been pending since March 9, 1925. The last entry was made by the late Judge James G. Moore when an injunction was granted as prayed for in the petition, and this was done April 3, 1925.

Overrules New Trial

A motion for a new trial has been overruled by the court in the $3,000 action filed in common pleas court by Filippo Manasco against the Continental Insurance Co. In this case a jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant company following a trial April 21, last.

Serks Citizenship

Parma Santa, 36, a native of Italy and residing at 15½ Newgarden st., Salem, has filed his declaration of intent with Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine to become a citizen of the United States. He arrived at New York, Aug. 15, 1919.

Plaintiff Given Judgment

Failure of defendants to appear

has caused the court to enter judgment by default in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Windland Bros' Lumber Co. of East Liverpool against Thomas Carns for $265.52 and costs.

Judgment By Confession

In the case of the Moore Furniture Co. against Harry and Elizabeth Smith, an action carried to common pleas on appeal, judgment by confession for $23.37 has been entered in favor of the plaintiff. Interest from Dec. 14, 1925, has been also made a part of the judgment.

RAZING BRIDGE FOR NEW SPAN

Razing of an old iron bridge over Beaver creek on the Lisbon highway south of Lisbon on the Lisbon-East Liverpool road is well under way, and will be replaced with a concrete span.

This contract was recently awarded to H. C. Armstrong of Lisbon, and two piers have already been poured. A detour has been established 100 feet west of the location of the old bridge, and a new wood span has been built over the creek.

Probably three months will be required to complete the new bridge, providing favorable weather prevails, otherwise a longer period of time will be necessary.

Steel rails on a north and south track last longer than those laid east and west. The magnetism generated by the train friction is undisturbed in the former case, the latter it is resisted.

Taxi-Driving Preacher Has Faith in U. S. Youth

REV. THOMAS H. WHELPLEY
(International News Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK.—In spite of the alarmist surveys which splash over into the public prints, modern youth of America isn't traveling lickerly split to perdition. On the contrary, the boys and girls nowadays are pretty sensible youngsters, who have merely adapted their pace to a machine age.

You can take the word of Thomas H. Whelpley for it; and he ought to know. By day he is the Rev. Thomas H. Whelpley, effectively ministering to his flock at the Chelsea Presbyterian church, No. 241 W. Twenty-third street, but by night he is plain Tom Whelpley, cruising taxi-cab driver whose cap-shaded "mug" conforms with the photo on his back license, thereby making unnecessary the stern admonition: "If another person is driving this car notify a policeman."

Whelpley's motive isn't hard to understand: In the Chelsea church he has been successful; among the men of his calling he may be termed a big time attraction, for upon many occasions they have had to "turn them away" at the church doors. So he holds it to be only fair that his sermons to large congregations be based upon hard facts rather than vague reports relayed to him by others.

A former lieutenant in the Canadian army, the Rev. Whelpley isn't a "snooper" when he changes into his driver's clothes. In his journeys about the city he contents himself with seeing, hearing and keeping his own counsel; whatever lessons he derives are saved for his sermons. "Driving around at night I gain a wonderful insight into the so-called 'wild life' uptown," the preacher-taxi driver says. "I may be losing my eyesight, but to me it does not present the scene of depravity that I had been told of. The police seem to handle the crowds perfectly, and considering the number of people around there are very few drunks."

The Rev. Whelpley related to the reporter of an occasion when he drove a couple to his own church to be married. He descended, offered to interview the pastor, and presently appeared in another suit and invited the boy and girl inside. Immediately after the wedding he effected a quick change and slipped out of a side door to take his place at the wheel of his cab. Then he drove the newlyweds to a railroad station, whence they departed on their honeymoon.

DERBY, CONFETTI AID NINE BANDS

Everybody Smiles day and Night in Houston; Klan
Buried Politically

Houston, Texas, June 28.—The Ku Klux Klan is buried politically today beneath the multi-colored carnival confetti of the happy-go-lucky Democratic convention in history.

The rank and file of the party came to Houston disposed to believe the best of everyone, and harmony was in the air of sunny Texas. They brought more bands than ever have come upon a convention city in modern times and began forthwith to play "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," under the hotel windows as early as 4 a. m. and as late as 5 the next morning. They filled the air with "Ramona," "Highways are Happy Ways" and "My Blue Heaven," until it was just natural to laugh right out loud at the "lightest provocation."

When they went into convention, the spotless white hood which was slipped over the head of the Democratic donkey at Madison Square Garden four years ago was handed back as a mortuary shroud and the spirit of the hooded night rider shimmered out of San Houston hall holding its ghostly sides for laughter over the mournful funeral dirge of—"East Side, West Side, all Around the Town."

Atop the clumbersome casket, which the party sees contains not a man nor even a body of abandoned ideals but merely the white shroud and clumbersome mask of America's post-war social neurosis, there sits today a little brown derby. It is about the funniest thing you ever saw and you simply can't help laughing. Instead of arousing in the hearts of the erstwhile foes-to-the-death bitter memories of the stand-off feud, this derby brings only a cheery smile.

A brown derby is, after all, an irresistible thing, and as the merry mourners read in their party history of the last eight years, "The decline and fall of the invisible empire," the heroic soldiers of Madison Square, who lashed each other so unmercifully with such high loyalty "to the right, as God gives us to see the right," they wipe the perspiration of eight feverish years from weary brows and vow, in the spirit of the funny little hat, "and that's that."

Here is Attorney-General Albert Ottinger, who is likely to be the Republican nominee for governor of New York. Opposing him probably will be Franklin D. Roosevelt, lifelong friend of Governor Smith and a nationally-known Democratic leader.

Johnny Risko Outpoints George Godfrey

G HEART WINS OVER BIG MAN IN POOR FIGHT

Cleveland Baker Boy Has Too Much On Ball For Mammoth Black

GODFREY GETS HIS ROUNDS VERY EARLY

Then Johnny Comes Back And Hammers Away To Get Decision

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
New York, June 28.—Johnny Risko, the man who won't take "no" for an answer, did us all a personal favor last night when he outmugged the all-black menace, George Godfrey, in ten tedious rounds at Ebbets field.

He staked Godfrey to height, reach and 44½ pounds in weight—he gave away everything, in fact, except fighting heart and, in this important essential, the black finished so far back that I was forced to stretch a point in even giving him second place.

Risko simply "buled" a bigger and broader man out of the decision in the last three rounds. Rushing in headlong, he drove home punch after punch to Godfrey's middle and all that worthy could do about it was to clutch the other in a series of "John Gilbert love scenes."

It was a terrible fight, and Godfrey was mainly responsible. The bromide that it takes two to make a fight was never so thoroughly sustained.

Opening Is Uneventful

The first two rounds were uneventful, but Godfrey easily won the third and fourth. He swung the white man around at will, meantime clubbing that cruel right to the kidneys and occasionally hooking a left up above. The body punches had John's knees drooping.

Risko, however, stepped briskly around the mammoth 'one in the fifth, shooting two rights to the rotunda that made Godfrey bend double. Thus encouraged, John began charging in with a left hook under Godfrey's guard and, from that moment the fight was "in."

Godfrey had no defense against that punch. From then on he fought a defensive fight and a far from successful one, at that.

For Risko, having bluffed Godfrey out of all fighting ideas, was now free of those right hand counters to the body and showed his appreciation by swarming all over the colored man for the last five rounds, clipping his tilted head with left swings and invariably scoring with the same punch to the body.

That was about all there was to it. The man with the big body lost. The man with the big heart won.

COMPLETE CARD IN AKRON SHOW

Hill and Owens Signed; Christner-Humbeck In Finale of Day

Akron, June 28.—The supporting card for Akron's "battle of the century" to be held at the Akron-Cleveland speedway the afternoon of July 4 and featuring K. O. Christner, the Akron rubber worker, and Cyclone Jack Humbeck, Belgian heavyweight champion, was announced today by Promoter B. Ward Beam.

Two mammoth colored heavyweights will appear in the semi-final, this battle bringing together Bunker Hill of New York, who is under the management of Leo P. Flynn, the Willy old carpet-bagger of the ring who piloted Jack Dempsey to within a hair's breath of his former heavyweight championship last year; and Bill Owens of Syracuse.

Hill is one of the hottest individuals in the ring today, being second only to George Godfrey, the Philadelphia behemoth, in the matter of poundage. Hill tips the scales at 235 pounds while Owens weighs in the neighborhood of 215.

The other bouts are: Frankie Brown of New York vs Horace Greeley of Denver, Colorado, light heavyweights; Charley Scherer of Cleveland vs Johnny Fife of Toledo, light heavyweights and Johnny Kutz, Massillon vs Paul Spangler of Akron, light heavyweights. The three latter bouts are to be of six rounds each with the Hill-Owens battle listed for the eight-round route.

STRESS NEED OF TENNIS COURTS, BASEBALL FIELD

Start Fund For Building More Courts at Park; May Improve Field

Hoping to have at least one additional court laid out soon at Centennial park, plans are being made by Joe Kelley to hold the first annual city tennis tournament at the park in August with the aid of several business men of the city. Tennis has become one of the most popular sports in the city, the public courts at the park being crowded every night, with a long line awaiting their turn to play.

The necessity of another court is apparent, due to this interest in the game. The tennis fund started by Kelley for the completion of the present courts and the laying out of one or two others is being raised fast and work will start on them inside of two weeks, it is hoped.

Plans have already been completed by N. L. Reich to have the ground scraped and the courts laid out, but the fund must be raised in order to complete them. Part of the fund will go toward building wings on the two courses already built.

The approval of the park commission has been obtained for the work and it will start soon.

No Baseball Field
With the increase of interest in tennis, it gives Salem some sport to follow during the summer athletic season, baseball being eliminated due to the lack of good playing field.

Following the improvement of tennis facilities, action will be taken on improving the baseball diamond at the park in order that both baseball and playground "mush" ball can be played without endangering the players.

The diamond at the present time is in terrible shape. Boys of grammar school age, inclined toward baseball, have no place to play unless it is in the streets or fields.

It was hoped this summer to give the boys of school age a good playground for baseball through the donation by W. H. Mullins of the field adjacent to Kelly field to the Memorial building, but the lack of funds has made this impossible.

YANKS SOCK IT TO ATHLETICS

New York, June 28.—Cornelius McGillicuddy, nee Mack, adjusted his lightning calculator today and morosely estimated that his Athletics must gain one game a week on the New York Yankees for the remainder of the season in order to nose out the world's champions.

The A's lost to the Yanks yesterday, 7 to 4, and now trail them by 11 games.

Returning to Boston, the Red Sox went crazy with the heat and blisters. The Senators twice, 4 to 1 and 11 to 4. The Sox clouted 29 hits.

Whit's Huffing and Morris held the Nats to 11. Taut, Boston outfielder, had a perfect average at bat with five hits in the nightcap.

In the only other game scheduled, the New York Giants captured a wild 11 to 8 slugfest from the Phillies.

Fight Results

At New York—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, outpointed George Godfrey, Leipsville, Pa., (10).

George Levine, Brooklyn, won decision over Floyd Hybert, Cleveland welterweight (8).

Billy Angelo, Leipsville welterweight, drew with Jack McFarland, Newark, N. J., (6).

At Philadelphia—Harry Blitman, Philadelphia featherweight, won decision over Tony Canzoneri, world's champion (10). Canzoneri's title was not at stake.

Eddie Shea, Chicago, won decision over Rossey Stoy, Lancaster, Pa., (10).

At West New York, N. J.—James J. Braddock, Jersey City, drew with Billy Vidabek, a sparring partner of Gene Tunney (10).

Longest Phone Call Easily Made From The Hague to Java

New York, June 28.—The longest distance ever spanned by oral communication, a telephone conversation covering 8,449 miles, was recently reported. It was accomplished by means of a telephone and radio hook-up between the Hague in Holland and Batavia, Java, and was arranged by the telephone officials of the Dutch East Indies. V. A. Davidson, managing director of the N. V. General Motors, Java, and Ivan Dresser, advertising manager of General Motors Continental at Antwerp, were the parties brought into communication by the hook-up. At the time of the conversation it was eleven o'clock at night in Batavia while at the Hague it was four o'clock in the afternoon. It would require 30 days to transmit a written confirmation of the conversation by mail from Holland to Java.

Paris—Fine hair nets are the foundation of new warm weather hats. The net is made to fit exactly to the shape of the head. On it are laid curls of cock-feathers. The hat gives the illusion of all over curls. One shop shows a hat of black fine straw painted by hand with an all over design of small red and beige flowers to match a crepe de chine dress.

Another social leader chooses Old Gold...when Mrs. Sidney Borg makes the Blindfold test

"The charitable activities in which I am engaged make it necessary for me to meet with women at all kinds of functions. I am often invited to smoke, but I smoke so little that my throat protests immediately unless the cigarette is very mild. So it was with particular delight that I discovered Old Gold in the blindfold test. I chose it at once... and from now on it will be my exclusive favorite."

Madeline Borg

MRS. BORG was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing her taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

MRS. SIDNEY BORG... nationally known for her social and charitable activities... chairman of the woman's division, Federated Jewish Charities... chairman of the Jewish Big Sisters.

What is this quality that tells... even in the dark?

OLD GOLD'S honey-like smoothness... that's the net of it. But this cool and fragrant charm can come only from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant.

No heavy, coarse top-leaves... no withered ground-leaves. That's why OLD GOLDS are different... better... why you can pick them with your eyes closed.

Smuggling Hashish Across Sinai By Arabs Stamped Out

Jerusalem, June 28.—Smuggling of hashish across central Sinai to the Suez Canal has become a most hazardous occupation, and Arab bootleggers who are too wary to run the drug through southern Sinai and across the Red Sea by boat have withdrawn from the business. Officials predict that before long this profitable trade will be almost completely stamped out, so effective have been the anti-contraband work in the Sinai peninsula.

For years, smugglers had a free run. The Egyptian frontier administration's care and camel patrols repulsing Arabs from the Hedjaz who were in the habit of raiding across the border. With improvement in public security, following on the transfer of the Akaba area from the Hedjaz to Transjordan, and in consequence of intensified vigilance on the part of the desert police, these raids have ceased. The frontier administration has since then turned its attention to the suppression of the illicit hashish traffic.

Make Big Captures

Two large captures last year proved to the Arabs that bootlegging across Sinai was dangerous. This was followed by further big captures after a fight in which one smuggler and his camel were killed. For six months smuggling stopped, Arabs refusing to carry the weed except at a wage that left small profit for the dealers.

Hashish runners are believed to have lost $50,000 in addition to compensation they have had to pay for any Arab killed in the spectacular running fights across the desert and also for the loss of camels captured or killed.

As the land route became too precarious the sea routes became popular. Attempts were made to land cargoes from Syria on the northern coast of Sinai. Once, smugglers succeeded in landing their cargo, also the boat carrying the hashish was seen by police patrol. The hashish runners waited until dark when they removed the cargo by camel.

In spite of a ten hour start the police discovering the tracks in the sand pursued the convoy for four days until the party was over taken. The police patrol of three returned the fire of the 13 smugglers who broke up in three parties and fled in different directions. Following a party of five, the patrol kept up a running fight until the Arabs were forced to throw away their loads to make good their escape.

Gave Up Chase

The exhausted condition of their camels due to the terrific heat, forced the patrol to give up the chase after four days, but four new patrols converging on the smugglers from all points of the compass succeeded at last in capturing most of the Arabs concerned who had still on them considerable quantities of the drug.

Detectives have been able to track down the real culprits, the owners of the hashish, who are a wealthy company. The fines and punish-

American Tourist British Invasion Breaking Records

London, June 28.—A "big invasion" of American tourists to England, breaking all previous records, is now taking place.

All the principal hotels are full of trans-Atlantic visitors.

They are attending sport fixtures of national interest, in amazing numbers this year. At the recent golf championship matches, 25 per cent of the followers were American, while at the Derby races the American visitors numbered many thousands.

One American, who entertained a party of 16 friends at Epsom, after the Derby races, did so on a lavish scale by presenting all the ladies with jewelry.

Seventy-five per cent of the travelers have brought their own cars and are making the most of their stay by visiting the provinces.

It is expected that between March and September 250,000 trans-Atlantic visitors will have visited the British Isles.

Shaw Gets Mad As Editor Puts Blame On Him for Picture

London, June 28.—George Bernard Shaw demands and gets big money for treatises on all conceivable subjects. Nevertheless his free contributions to newspapers during the last few years would fill several volumes.

Shaw has the delightful habit of writing letters to the editor. Bitter as the letter may be it always has a few real Shavian quips. The editor who receives a letter from Shaw considers himself lucky. It adds tone to his paper.

The "Londoner's Diary" in the Evening Standard got the latest "rise" out of Shaw by commenting unfavorably on the appearance of Shaw's new book, "Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism." The editor commented that the cover design, which he considered bad, had been executed by Shaw himself.

"If, as seems likely," wrote Shaw to the editor, "your informant alleges that the famous bust of me by Rodin and the statue by Troubetzkoy in the Venice exhibition, are also my own inept handiwork, will you be so good as to blue pencil the information.

"I trust it was not the same hand that started in another quarter the statement that 'Mr. Shaw, dissatisfied with the original draft, rewrote the entire book' but the utter and gratuitous untruth of the report fills me with suspicion. Old as I am I have not yet come to bungling my job like that."
